Grasmick Joins AgIS Capital as Operations Analyst

August 24, 2015: Announcement by Jeffrey A. Conrad, President and Founder

I am very pleased to announce that Garrett Grasmick has joined AgIS Capital in the newly created role of Operations Analyst. As we continue to acquire additional assets on behalf of our clients it is important that we expand our staff and capabilities by attracting talented individuals who can add considerable value on their behalf. I am confident that Garrett will be a great contributor to the AgIS team.

Garrett joins us from Bland Farms, the largest grower, packer and shipper of sweet onions in the United States, where he was an Operations and Sales Analyst based in the company's Glennville, Georgia headquarters. In that role, he monitored operations costs and capital expenditures, completed sales forecasts and generated daily management and productivity reports. Prior to joining Bland, Garrett also acquired several years of direct farm management experience on his family's Colorado farm operation, where he oversaw livestock raising (cattle, goats, hogs and sheep) and row crops (corn, wheat, onions and various types of produce).

Garrett holds two degrees from Texas Tech University – a BA in Agricultural and Applied Economics and a MA in Agribusiness.
